WAR DECLARED

European Conflict Pades Into Insignificance.—Peace Restored by Splendid Management.—The Hague
Officials Please Take Notice.

(By "Daisy Dan")

Yesterday morning the Maysville High School chapel was a miniature European battlefield, the strife being caused by the election of officers of the Athletic Association for the ensuing year. By some slick politics the Freshmen and Junior classes had voted and were epiling up majorities that would make the "Drys" hunt their holes. Not being in the race the Seniors and Sophomores started to crawl and the result was a dead lock which existed for some time till Sept. W. J. Caplinger acting as a "Dove of Peace," came to the rescue of the young politicians.

He appointed the following officers: E. J. McNamara, President, Stanley Haughaboe, Vice-President, John W. Mathews, Treasurer, Charles S. Downing, Secretary.

A few such cases as yesterday's will be a decided benefit to all the young people who participate in them as it is their training that produces the politicians of the coming generations.

AN INJUSTICE TO MR. J. W. FITZGERALD.

Mr. James W. Fitzgerald asks The Public Ledger to correct the misstatement that he was one of the politicians in the suit filed by George M. Diemer and others, to appeal the order of the Mason County Court ordering the local option election and to test the constitutionality of the various dry laws.

Mr. Fitzgerald says he has no hand in the matter.

Miss Lillian Poyntz of Dallas, Texas, is the guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Poyntz of this city.

"WETS"

Seek Only to Test Constitutionality of Local Option Law.—Are Not Taking Appeal on the Vote in the Election.

Those in favor of the licensed sale of liquors in Maysville desiring to contest the validity of the acts of the Legislature under which the recent election was held, are preparing to contest the matter on the ground that the Act of 1911 is unconstitutional and contrary to the provisions of Sections 51 and 52 of the Kentucky Constitution and in derogation of certain principles guaranteed under the Federal Constitution.

It has been rumored that they intended contesting the election but they are not disposed as far as we can learn to question the vote in any sense. The matters which they are raising being applicable solely to testing out the validity of the laws under which the election was held, particularly the question as to the constitutionality of the Act of 1911 and other provisions now on the statute books governing these matters.

The liquor men regard it as a peculiar hardship that their business can be destroyed almost within a few months after an act has been passed by the Legislature and before that Act has been tested in the courts.

Many will remember the Kentucky Anti-Trust Acts of which so much was heard a short time ago and before these Acts were held unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of the United States, millions of dollars worth of business was transacted often at great sacrifices, under the supposed notion that the laws were valid.

It is really unfortunate that laws are not tested out promptly before interests are sacrificed without having any assurance of their validity.

So this action is not an appeal on the vote but a suit to test the validity of the constitutionality of the law under which the local option election was held.

Mrs. Jos. H. Dodson leaves today for Winchester where she will represent the local W. C. T. U. at the state convention there. The convention lasts until Sunday.

COMMITTS MURDER

To Protect Name of Sister—Body of Infant Found in Baldwin's Pond Identified—Young Russell Paul Drowns Child to Cover Sister's Disgrace—Examining Trial Next Wednesday.

In tracing a clue in regard to the baby found in the pond on Mr. Watt Baldwin's farm Tuesday afternoon, Coroner Slack brought to light one of the most horrible yet most pathetic and heart rendering crimes that has come to the notice of the local court in a score of years.

The only things on the body when it was found were a cotton bandage, a string and a few pins. Coroner Slack began a quiet investigation and working upon one remark made in his hearing discovered the identity of the child and the perpetrators of the crime. His search led him to a doctor of this city and from him he learned that he had been called to the home of Mrs. Harrison Paul in Williams street Thursday about 3 o'clock to attend her daughter, Mahel, who gave birth to a child. He called again early Friday morning and was told that the child had been sent to its father. He advised that it be sent for and kept by the mother until such time as it could be safely sent to the father.

Thinking that there was a chance that the child had been disposed of and that it might have been the child found in the pond, the Coroner investigated and found that Russell Paul, the sixteen-year-old brother of the girl, had hired a horse and buggy at Myall and Calvert's stable and had gone to the country Thursday night. He questioned the boy and he told a story of having taken the child to his home Wednesday night about 9:30 by Coroner Slack and Deputy Sheriff Mike Brown. About 10:30 he confessed to the Coroner, Mr. Brown and Chief Mackey that urged by his mother, he had taken the child to the country and thrown it into the pond. He was placed in jail and his main worry seemed to be that he would not be able to go to work the following morning. The boy was the sole support of the family since his father left them.

The Coroner held an inquest yesterday afternoon and the boy practically substantiated the confession he had already made.

The jury returned the following verdict: "We the jury, find that the body of a white infant found in the pond on Mr. Watt Baldwin's farm near the Lexington pike, Mason County, September 29, 1914, came to its death from drowning at the hands of Russell Paul.

HARRY C. CURRAN, Foreman.
REV. JAS. H. PIELING,
C. B. HOLSTEIN,
JOHN CRANE,
REV. R. L. BENN,
H. H. BARKLEY.

The boy was taken to jail and will be held without bail until next Wednesday at 9 o'clock when he will have his examining trial before County Judge W. H. Rice.

The identity of the father of the child has not been learned.

The boy's crime constitutes willful murder according to the verdict of the Coroner's jury.

Russell is an honest, industrious hard working boy and well liked by every one who knew him.

At the conclusion of the inquest yesterday there was sorely a man in the room but whose eyes were filled with tears and in whose throat there was a lump caused by the heart-rending tale of this mere child who had committed this awful crime in order that his sister might be spared.

When taken to jail Wednesday night the boy did not seem to realize the enormity of his crime, but kept asking Chief Mackey as to how much his fine would be, and if he could arrange it so he could pay it and not lose any time from his work.

GO TO CHURCH CAMPAIGN.

MUSIC AND THE SOLDIER.

When the American soldier "boys" were charging up Sun Juan hill in the face of a withering fire the strain that gave them inspiration was "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town To-night," a fitting ditty composed by Theodore Metz, formerly leader of the orchestra at Maenley's theater in Louisville. It was not martial music in any sense. There was no solemn import in its breezy air, no patriotic message in the blipany lines:

"One Sunday night when the people were in bed
Mrs. O'Leary set the lamp out in the shed;
When the cow kicked it over she winked her eye and said:
'There'll be a hot time in the old town tonight!'"

But it was battle music when a battle was raging. Soldiers who could not have remembered a bar of "My Country, 'Tis of Thee," or "The Star Spangled Banner," knew every word of "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town To-night." It was an intimate voice from home, an unexplainable solace amid a storm of shot and shell.

The same spell of the intimate and the commonplace has led the British soldiers in the present war to adopt as their official war song "It's a Long Way to Tipperary." They do not sing "God Save the King," although they are giving up their lives for him every day. "Rule Britannia" is not heard in the camps, on the marches or the battle fields. It is a stately and revered air, but it has not the tang of the soil, the poignant and heartening appeal of the ballad that Tommy Atkins knows and loves the best. "It's a Long Way to Tipperary"—Louisville Times.

MODERN CAMPAIGNING.

The Human General Staff's resort to the aeroplane as a means of distributing campaign literature in this state will probably fire Hennessey to career impetuously through the empyrean in a gas balloon.—Sun, New York.

BUT NOT BY DEMOCRATS.

was the epitome of irony that the forgotten more platform should have concluded with a graph beginning with the statement that the mises are made to be kept.—Parkersburg Intch News.

SPICIOUS WHEELINGITES.

It's impossible to keep the West Virginia metro-is out of the big news. At least three Wheeling oples have been arrested in Germany as spies.—Heeling Register.

RAVELING THE SAME ROUTE.

The campaign bar'l and the pork bar'l are both in their way to oblivion.—Evening Star, Washington.

Just because the "Lost River Discoverer" wanted to take command of the army the first time President Taft sent it down on the Rio Grand. River, about four years ago, was no good reason why he should have tried to "bust up" the Republican party. He defeated Taft, but the party is coming out of the scrimmage in line shape and will again be in power in 1917. The people will bring it about.

The more you scratch the Free-Trade itch the worse it itches.

THE THOUGHT IS STAGGERING.

Let us sit down and read history. Read the most terrific page of history. Read of Caesar, of Attila, of Napoleon.

Get our souls full of those pages. Comprehend the sublimity of their upheavals. And then force ourselves to realize that the page now being written transcends them all in horror and importance. We cannot realize it. But we must. And the sooner the better. This thing has happened to us. The realization should induce a solemn state of mind, for which there is no word except the word religious. It should stir not only the minor religious virtues of faith, obedience, fortitude, and helpfulness, but the final religious virtue of carelessness about self. Comforts, conveniences, rewards, justice, even life—what are they when the loss of them is calmly risked? We may or may not see the end of this thing. The old ideal may or may not be as moribund as we had supposed. What matter? We shall have lived in an age unparalleled; and human dignity remains. Some, I admit, are pessimistic concerning the result—not the result to Britain of Britain's pugnacity, but the vast result of the struggle between ideals. Of course common sense, energy, steadfastness, the informed consciousness of right, may fail. Nobody who wishes to think so can be prevented from thinking so. Personally I do not think so. I am on the side of the far future and the far future is always right—till in its turn it slips into the past.—Arnold Bennett in Harper's Weekly.

LET'S FORGET IT HERE, TOO.

It is all over; the count has been completed, the battle has been fought; and, as in the case of all contests, one side had to win and the other lose.

Naturally enough, some are rejoicing; for others there are deep regrets. But there is no use in postmortems. "The world is so full of a number of things," as Robert Louis Stevenson insisted, that there is plenty to keep all of us busy if we want to attend to our own business. The result was decisive, and to thresh out its details can have little effect except to keep partisan feeling alive and bitter.

What every community most needs is a spirit of co-operation and neighborly kindness. Hopkinsville has long revelled in such a spirit. That's what has made the city the envy of other Kentucky towns and given us the splendid prosperity and peace which we enjoy.

The local option election is a thing of the past. Let's forget it and look to the future with the determination that every citizen will do all in his power to promote civic harmony and success.—Hopkinsville New Era.

THIS NOT THE YEAR.

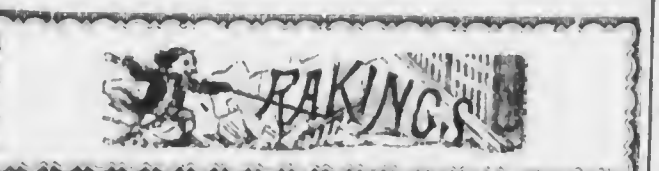

This is not the year for extravagant "Pork" bills. It would have been well if Democratic Senators had sooner realized it.—World, New York.

THE QUESTION?

More apples this year; but will they come in the old-time hickory-booped barrels or in these poster-d boxes at a nickel per?—Boston Herald.

WHY IT RAINS.

Perhaps rain follows great battles because they are a sight to make heaven weep.—Boston Herald.

THE OLDER THE SOONER.

"What pensions, what millions and billions in pensions this horrible war is going to entail," said Maj. Fitzgerald, of Boston. He added:

"And some of these pensions will go on longer than they should because some of the pensioners in their old age will marry young girls—for an old pensioner makes a good part, since his pension, you know, falls on his death to his widow.

"I heard the other day about an old Civil War pensioner who proposed to the hired girl next door, a very pretty hired girl of 20 or so. But she refused him.

"Perhaps," he stammered then, stroking in his embarrassment his long and snow-white beard, 'perhaps I am too old.'

"No," said the pretty-haired girl calmly; 'no, Corporal, you're too young!'"

Judge William Lewis and Rev. White were engaged in a quarrel at Manchester last week during Circuit Court. The quarrel came up over a decision on a lawsuit which the Judge had called against White, and White hit him a few times, but they were separated before any further harm was done.—London Echo.

John Ray Price, a prominent farmer of the Clay country, was in Dixon Friday. Mr. Price has already cut, hauled and fired his tobacco and is now ready for the buyer. He says he has as good a crop as he has ever grown. Some of it is thirty inches wide and forty-four inches in length. The fiber is unusually good. He has eight acres.—Dixon Journal.

STRAIGHTFOR-

WARD TESTIMONY

Many Maysville Citizens Have Profited By It.

If you have backache, urinary troubles, days of dizziness, headaches or nervousness, strike at the seat of the trouble. These are often the symptoms of weak kidneys and there is grave danger in delay. Doan's Kidney Pills are especially prepared for kidney ailments — are endorsed by over 20,000 people. Your neighbors recommend this remedy—have proved its merit in many tests. Maysville residents should take fresh courage in the straightforward testimony of a Maysville citizen.

Henry Gallenstein, blacksmith, Poplar St., Maysville, Ky., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are the best of kidney remedies. I have used different kinds and no other has ever equalled this one. When my kidneys were out of order and I had pain in my back, I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and used them. They stopped the pain and my kidneys became strong. The cure has been permanent."

Mr. Gallenstein is only one of many Maysville people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you—don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Gallenstein had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores. PUBLIC SALE

If not sold privately previously, and considering the serious condition of my eyes, I will offer at Public Sale to the highest bidder on October 14th, 1914, at two o'clock, p. m., at the courthouse in Maysville, Ky., my farm, containing one hundred and fifty-two acres, two rods and twenty-six poles. It is situated on the Minerva and Dover turnpike, about one and a half miles from Fern Leaf. This farm has on it a residence of nine rooms and another house of five rooms, and the necessary out-buildings; also a splendid tobacco barn, eighty-four feet long, a stripping house and large ice house. It is well fenced, with woven wire fence, and well watered. Is all in grass but about fifteen acres, which is in corn. I have no hesitancy in stating that this is one of the best farms in that location of the county, all of the land is walnut, sugar tree and ash, grows a very fine quality of tobacco. There is also an abundance of locust timber and sufficient fruit. It is convenient to one of the best schools in the county, with four school wagons passing to convey the children to school; also several churches near, and is in a splendid neighborhood, which is very essential in seeking a location. The farm will be offered as a whole and in two tracts, as it can be divided and make two nice-size farms with a house on, each. Possession given November 3rd, 1914, with the exception of the corn land, which will be when the corn is cribbed. Terms of sale, one-third of the purchase money November 3rd, 1914, and the other two-thirds in one and two years, with a lien retained on the land and six per cent. interest per annum on deferred payments. If the purchaser prefers they can pay any cash. The right is reserved to reject any and all bids if not satisfactory.

HOW DR. BROWNING GOT HIS FISH

The Ledger:

All around the world and back to Mt. Carmel for my initial reminiscence. It is recalled by a recent long and pleasant talk with an old friend from there, and dates back subsequent to the coming of Columbus in 1492, but note dates my first centennial.

Time was when the devil was thought to live in a fiddle, and the boy who went fishing on Sunday necessarily and rightfully got drowned. The devil may be in it today—he's in so many places. And many boys may have been drowned when fishing on Sunday; but I wasn't.

'Twas in this long ago that Adam and Jacob banished contracted to build that time-honored old brick Methodist Church yet standing at Mt. Carmel. They were father and son, and twins in all that was ranky in religious fanaticism. They were leaders at my father's during the building, and their going and coming gave me cramps and colic, which paragoned, mint and sick failed to relieve.

On my home place was an old time pond, a moving picture to the initiate, for 'twas full to the brim of bewitching fish, free to a chosen few on week days, to the Sabbath breaker never! All the same they were all at church on Sunday. The devil, escaping his fiddle, seized me and filled my basket with choice fishes.

'Twas my promise to switch off the flies which sure enough people ate things. Coming to table, all else was side-tracked, and my coveted fish, won unquestioned—the way of all fish. The last available one was just within the clutch of the daddy of the two when, in utter desperation I exclaimed:

"Uncle Adam, do you think it right and safe to eat fish caught on Sunday?"

"What does that mean, sonny?"

"I caught 'em yesterday mornin' when you was all at the meetin'."

"The devil will get thee, my boy."

"It may be; but I got my fish!"

The goose home prophets are already at work, and are predicting a cold winter and lots of snow; they say the weeds have been growing extra high this season, a sure sign of a cold winter. WEEKLY SPORT LETTER.

(By C. H. ZUBER.)

Nothing much short of a miracle can prevent the Boston team from winning the championship in the National League. With only about one dozen games still to play, and with a lead of more than six games on the New Yorks, the Beane would simply have to ex plore to lose first place. There is no doubt that the victory of Stalling's men will be the most popular of the Na tional League has known in years. Near ly everybody—except the fellow that gets licked—loves a fighter; and the Boston certainly have done some scrap ping. Sentenced to a lowly position because of a bad get away, the Beane worked themselves from last place to the head of the procession within less than three months. If they had started the season as they ended it, they would have been so far ahead of the other teams by the Fourth of July that the race would have been a dead one. As it was, their wonderful spirit kept up interest in the fight for the day right down to the finish. How they will stack up against the Athletics, winners of the American League Championship, re mains to be seen. It's a safe bet, how ever, that they'll give Connie Mack's bunch more of a battle than J'd the Giants last year.

Manager Herzog and his gang of Reds will be home on Sunday for their final appearances of the season, with the Pittsburghs as their opponents. While the Reds have not done much in the way of earning bouquets of late, they have given Manager Herzog an excel lent line on the real weakness of the team for next season, and these prom ise to be well patched up before the aggregation takes to the field in the spring. Quite a number of players have been experimented with on the present eastern trip. Some will stick, others will be decorated with the Order of the Can. The pitcher problem is the hard est one which Manager Herzog has to solve, and judging by the reports of the scouts, that end of the team will be inferior in 1915 than for many years previous.

It is quite likely that those fans who attend next Sunday's game between the Reds and the Pirates will mark the last appearance on the local lot of Hans Wagner as an active player. The great German with a record as good as any ever made by a base ball player, feels that his days as a regular are over; and as he has amassed a fortune in base ball and through investments, he is en titled to honorable retirement. Wagner has been in the big league nearly twenty years, and has always been re garded as a star. It is certain that he will be missed all over the circuit, and that there is no successor in sight in the matter of ability, versatility and pop ularity.

For the first time in the history of local automobile shows, motoring and aviation will be featured jointly in the Cincinnati Fall Automobile Exposition, to be given at Music Hall, October 3 to 10. The aviation features will consist of daily flights, including loop the loop stunts over the downtown skyscrapers, by Art Smith, America's youngest and most daring birdboy, exhibitions of aeroplanes at Music Hall, and lectures on aviation by Harry N. Atwood, the noted American flyer.

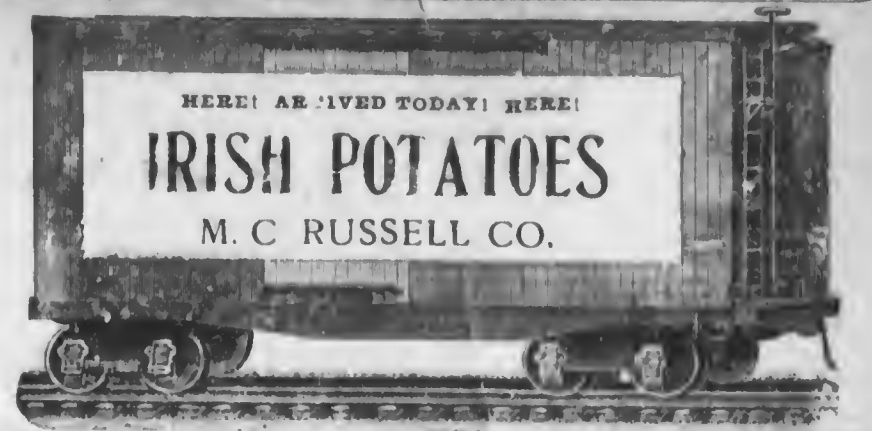

The war does not seem to be affecting the racing game in Kentucky. The meeting at Lexington, which closed re cently, was the most prosperous the track ever enjoyed, measuring the pros perity by the amount of money played in the mutual machines, Douglass Park, where the ponies are cavorting at pres ent, sends in like reports, and Latonia, which opens next month, is expected to give equally gratifying returns.

TOBACCO GROWERS WAIT.

Taking consolation in the quotation, "sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof," tobacco growers and dealers are patiently awaiting the time to come when the now growing crop will be matured and ready for market and hoping that the war in Europe will soon come to an end or if this is not to be by the time the tobacco is ready for sale, that conditions will have so far righted themselves as to make sales possible for the foreign demand. There is no interest being shown in the small stock on hand from the last crop and the market is dead in that line. But the dealers predict an active selling season and are making their plans steadily to that end.

The crop now in the field is turning out the best in quality grown in many years. Some of the planting was so late that it is still growing and there is danger of it being nipped by frost. But most of it is well matured, and the cutting is now becoming general. The tobacco is unusually large, show ing a great breadth of leaf. The cool nights and heavy dews of the past few weeks have caused it to thicken until it is almost like leather. Worms have not bothered it appreciably and the only thing that threatens it at all is the frost. The average is estimated about fifty per cent, and the quality close to one hundred.—Hopkinsville New Era.

The Rivers and Harbors Bill, in the form of a Senate substitute, carrying $20,000,000 for continuing present pro jects in the discretion of the War De partment, was passed by the House.

NINETEENTH DAY

Of World's Greatest Battle Not Decisive

Germans Falling Back--Russians Advancing

London, England, Sept. 30.—The nineteenth day of the battle of the Aisne finds the allied armies pushing, with all the strength they can bring to bear, in their great effort to outflank the German right wing and force it back from its line of communication through Belgium. There is evidence that this movement is beginning to tell and that unless something unforeseen happens this portion of the German army must fall back to another defense line.

Center Awaits the Outcome.

In the center, from Rheims to the Meuse, the armies appeared still to be waiting for the outcome of the fighting on the wings as there has been a lull in the battle there.

Between the Argonne and the Meuse, and again in Woivre, there has been some severe fighting. The French claim to have made slight progress and to have advanced at several points to the east of St. Mihiel.

London, Sept. 30.—The correspondent of the London Daily Chronicle with the Belgians writing under yesterday's date estimates that nearly 150,000 troops are engaged in a desperate battle along a line extending from Termonde to Aerschot.

"This battle," the correspondent says, "appears to be the last effort on both sides."

"The Belgians' resistance in the face of the superior German artillery is really magnificent."

"As regards Antwerp, it is not easy to make any definite statement until the result of today's (Tuesday's) battle is known. In any case the town is well provisioned and fortified."

"The losses in the last few days must have been enormous. Certainly many thousands have fallen."

Austrian Army's 'Defeat Complete.'

London, Sept. 30.—In a dispatch from Rome the correspondent of the Central News says the Russian Ambassador announces that an Austrian army fleeing before the Russians has been surrounded near Donklo and that its defeat is complete.

All the food, ammunition and war material was being conveyed back to Austria has fallen into Russian hands. The captures include five hundred military automobiles.

Heaviest Gale Ever Known Sweeping Whole German Coast of North Sea

London, Sept. 30.—"The heaviest gale within living memory is sweeping over Denmark and the North Sea along the whole German coast," says the Copenhagen correspondent of the Daily News.

"Considerable damage has been done to property," continues the dispatch. "The German air maneuvers in the neighborhood of Kiel have been abandoned."

"A telephone message from West Jutland states that a number of bodies of German sailors in uniform were washed ashore Monday north of Esbjerg."

"Telegraphic communication has been considerably upset."

A CLOSE CALL.

John Simpson, the driver of Mr. Ed Richeson's grocery wagon, sustained several painful injuries and had a narrow escape from very serious injuries or perhaps death yesterday when the horse he was driving struck and exploded a cartridge in the street near the Public Library.

The horse lunged and threw John out of the wagon and he struck on his head in the street. One of the horse's hoofs struck him in the head and inflicted a bad looking cut.

The accident was caused by the carelessness of some one who threw the cartridge into the street and should be a warning to the offender.

BERTIE DUDLEY, H. P.

THE LOCAL OPTION ELECTION IS OVER. WHAT NEXT?

(By Miss Alice Lloyd.)

After a somewhat full discussion of the subject, the voters of Mason county met at the polls on Monday, September 28, and decided by a substantial majority that nowhere within the boundaries of Mason county could spirituous liquors or malt liquors be legally exposed for sale.

Dry Vote.

Every man who voted "No," did so from genuine conviction, many of them having their fields at a critical time and going several miles to the polling places. Not one of them had a larger personal interest involved than all the others and not one of them belongs on the list of purchasable voters said by one Mason county politician to number 1,000 and by another to constitute one-third of Mason county's electorate.

Many voted "No" who because of relationship and personal friendships would gladly have voted "Yes," but they felt that A PLACE IN THE ELECTORATE IS A PUBLIC TRUST, and that from its very nature the BALLOT CAN NOT BE USED TO PAY OFF A PRIVATE DEBT OR A PERSONAL OBLIGATION. More and more all over the country voters are coming to realize this truth.

Wet Vote.

On the other hand, while many voted "Yes" from genuine conviction, many others voted "Yes" because of personal and property interests, because of relationships and friendships and it can not be denied that very many belonging to the purchasable class, whether or not they were purchased in this election, voted "Yes." So that it WEIGHED the DRY MAJORITY IS LARGER than if COUNTED.

Resume of Arguments.

The "Drys" made their campaign on the fundamental proposition that GOVERNMENTS ARE ESTABLISHED TO PROMOTE THE GENERAL WELFARE; that the sale of alcoholic beverages is a MENACE to the GENERAL WELFARE and therefore should not be licensed.

They proved by the testimony of the medical profession and scientific experts that ALCOHOL is a HABIT-FORMING, POISONOUS drug that promotes disease directly and indirectly; by the testimony of the business world that it DESTROYS INDUSTRIAL EFFICIENCY; by court records and warnings on our penal institutions that it MAKES CRIMINALS; by every kind of social wreck that DESTROYS FAMILIES, WRECKS MANHOOD AND WOMANHOOD AND BLIGHTS CHILDHOOD BOTH BY HEREDITY AND ENVIRONMENT; and by publicists that the legalized liquor traffic is the CHIEF AGENT of the promoters of GRAFT AND POLITICAL CORRUPTION.

The "Wets" made their campaign on the proposition that saloons help business, and pay revenue and should therefore be licensed, forgetting the general welfare and the greatest good to the greatest number.

The "Drys" answered in rebuttal; the saloon takes over the bar money that would otherwise be spent in legitimate trade and therefore HURTS EVERY USEFUL business; it reduces industrial efficiency and therefore the total of wealth produced; more is consumed in caring for the wreckage of the saloon than the revenues amount to and that therefore the LICENSED LIQUOR TRAFFIC is an ECONOMIC MISTAKE.

This resume of the arguments used on both sides is made not so much for the sake of refreshing memories already fresh; but for the purpose of EM PHASIZING the ISSUE upon which the CAMPAIGN AGAINST ALCOHOL is being made and will continue to be made in the State, the nation, the world until there shall not be a licensed saloon on the globe.

What Next?

We in Mason county are concerned about our part in this world-wide movement first, in enforcing the law in our own county; second, in aiding the State-wide campaign that will bring the issue to a vote in the next session of the General Assembly; and third, in sending to the Federal Congress a representative who will cast the vote of the Ninth Congressional District of Kentucky for Nation-wide prohibition of the liquor traffic.

Dumping Ground and Cesspool. Many opposed to the sale of alcohol as a beverage have said: "But it is no use to prohibit here, it will be sold elsewhere." THE CAMPAIGN IS NOT OVER UNTIL THERE ARE NO ELSEWHERE. Moreover, the voters of Mason county did not in the meantime want our dear little city, nestled in the embrace of one of the most beautiful valleys in the world, and the DUMPING GROUND AND CESSPOOL for all that West Virginia, Virginia, Tennessee and one hundred and six other counties in Kentucky DRIVE OUT. We wanted to act while we could act for ourselves and not wait to be forced by State-wide or nation-wide legislation. The policy in this WAR ON ALCOHOL is the same as in all wars—push the enemy's front as far back as possible—make their depots and distributing centers as few and as remote as possible.

What To Do.

What shall next be done? Form a citizens' league with membership throughout the county that shall have for its purpose the strengthening of sentiment in support of the law, the searching out of offenders and the election of officers who will at all hazards enforce the law, men who regard the SANCTITY of an OATH and who are at least as QUICK WITTED and as COURAGEOUS as the degenerates, degraded whites and negroes with whom they will have to deal. Only so shall we accomplish the good aimed at.
